Jesus tells of a king who prepares a wedding feast and invites his guests to come. Everything is ready, yet many refuse. Some simply return to their farms and businesses. They have other things to do. The invitation of the king is pushed aside.

We may recognize ourselves in those guests. Most of us do not deliberately reject God. We simply become busy. Work, appointments, responsibilities, entertainment, and worries fill our days. None of these things are necessarily wrong. The danger comes when everything else receives our attention and God receives whatever time is left. An invitation can be ignored without ever saying no aloud. Sometimes our priorities answer for us.

God continues to invite us. He calls us to Mass, prayer, Confession, and deeper conversion. He asks us to forgive, serve, and make room for people who need us. Sometimes His invitation interrupts our plans. How often do we respond, even quietly, "Not today"? Jesus makes clear that refusing the king has consequences. We should not assume there will always be a more convenient time to respond to God.

The Gospel also gives us the image of the wedding garment. One man enters the feast but is not properly prepared, and the king has him cast out. His presence alone is not enough. That warning matters. Accepting God's invitation means allowing Him to change us. We cannot simply show up while resisting conversion. Following Christ should shape our priorities, relationships, choices, and the way we treat others. Grace invites a response from the whole of our lives, beginning with the choices we make each day before God.

This Sunday, consider what may be competing with God's invitation in your life. Then ask another question. If you have accepted His invitation, are you allowing His grace to transform you? God welcomes us with mercy, but He does not call us to remain unchanged. The King has prepared the banquet. The invitation is before us. How are you responding to it?

FATIMA: A MESSAGE FOR THE WORLD

BY JOSEPH LANGENBACH

When Mary Came to Fatima

In the spring of 1917, three young shepherd children were tending their sheep near Fatima, Portugal. Lucia dos Santos and her cousins, Francisco and Jacinta Marto, could not have known that their ordinary lives were about to change. On May 13, they reported seeing a beautiful woman dressed in white, radiant with light.

Mary asked the children to return on the thirteenth day of each month. She also asked them to pray the Rosary every day for peace. They returned, even as news spread and curiosity, doubt, and opposition grew around them.

Over the following months, Mary continued calling the children to prayer, sacrifice, and conversion. Her message was serious, but rooted in hope. Humanity could turn back toward God. Hearts could be converted. Peace was possible. Three children in a quiet Portuguese village were being entrusted with a message that would eventually reach millions of Catholics throughout the world.

A Call to Prayer and Conversion

At the heart of Fatima was a call to conversion. Mary urged people to turn away from sin, pray the Rosary, and make sacrifices for sinners. She also spoke of devotion to her Immaculate Heart and asked for the consecration of Russia, connecting these requests with prayer for peace and the conversion of hearts.

The Fatima message also gave rise to the Five First Saturdays devotion. The faithful are asked to receive Confession and Holy Communion, pray five decades of the Rosary, and spend fifteen minutes meditating on its mysteries, with the intention of making reparation to the Immaculate Heart of Mary. Our Lady promised those who faithfully observe five consecutive First Saturdays her assistance at the hour of death with the graces necessary for salvation.

These devotions ultimately point beyond Mary toward Christ. Fatima adds nothing to the Gospel, but this Church-approved apparition calls us to live the Gospel more faithfully. Prayer, repentance, sacrifice, and conversion remain part of the Christian life to which every one of us is called.

THE MIRACLE AND THE MESSAGE

On October 13, 1917, an enormous crowd gathered near Fatima despite heavy rain. Mary had promised that a sign would be given. Witnesses described the clouds breaking and the sun appearing to move, spin, and change colors in the sky. The event became known as the Miracle of the Sun.

Yet the miracle was never meant to overshadow the message. Mary called people to repentance, prayer, peace, and deeper faith in God. More than a century later, that call has not lost its urgency.

As October 13 approaches, Fatima invites us to respond. Pick up a Rosary. Pray for peace and for those far from God. Make a small sacrifice for another person. Seek God's mercy in Confession. Above all, examine your own heart. The message of Fatima ultimately leads us back to Christ and leaves us with a deeply personal question: Where is God asking me to change, and am I willing to respond?

SAINT JOHN XXIII: THE GOOD POPE WHO OPENED THE DOORS

Saint John XXIII was born Angelo Giuseppe Roncalli in 1881 to a farming family in northern Italy. His beginnings were humble. He entered the seminary as a boy and was ordained a priest in 1904. His ministry would eventually take him far beyond the quiet village where his faith first took root.

During World War I, Roncalli served as a medic and military chaplain. Later, the Church sent him into diplomatic service in Bulgaria, Turkey, Greece, and France. These assignments placed him among different cultures, religions, and political tensions. Through them, he learned to listen patiently and meet people with kindness while remaining firmly rooted in his Catholic faith.

In 1953, he became Patriarch of Venice and finally returned to direct pastoral ministry. Five years later, at age seventy-six, he was elected pope. Many expected an older pope with a short and quiet pontificate. John XXIII surprised them. His warmth quickly earned him the affectionate title "Good Pope John." But beneath that warmth was courage. He believed the Church must confidently bring Christ to a changing world.

Less than three months after his election, John announced plans for an ecumenical council. He wanted the bishops of the world to gather, pray, and consider how the Church could carry out her mission more effectively. That gathering became the Second Vatican Council.

The Council opened on October 11, 1962. John did not seek a different Gospel. Christ remained at the center. He wanted the Church to present her faith with renewed pastoral energy and speak the truth of Christ clearly to the modern world.

John's vision reached beyond the Council. He visited prisoners and the sick. He welcomed people from different nations and religions. He encouraged Christian unity. His simple manner reflected something deeper: a pastor who trusted God and wanted others to encounter His mercy.

In 1963, John published Pacem in Terris, or Peace on Earth. He taught that lasting peace must rest upon truth, justice, charity, and freedom. Human dignity and peace could not be separated.

John did not live to see the Council completed. He died on June 3, 1963, after less than five years as pope. Yet his short pontificate left a lasting mark. He was canonized by Pope Francis in 2014.

His feast is celebrated on October 11, the anniversary of the Council's opening. The date reminds us of the mission that defined his years as pope.

Saint John XXIII reminds us that gentleness is not weakness. His kindness was joined to courage, prayer, and trust in God. We can imitate him by listening before judging, choosing charity without abandoning truth, and bringing Christ to others with confidence and hope. Do others encounter the goodness of Christ through us?

Liturgical Life

Why Do We Do That?

Catholic Life Explained

Question

How do I bring God into the work of my daily life?

Answer

Whatever your daily work, you have an opportunity to encounter God and to follow His commandments in love. In the New Testament, we see that most of the Apostles didn't have a previous religious position. They were fishermen, tax collectors, and political activists. St. Paul was a tentmaker. Among the saints, we have doctors, lawyers, farmers, and stay-at-home moms. No matter your daily tasks, God can be present there!

One way concerns behavior. Start with an examination of conscience. Look at areas where you tend to struggle to imitate Christ at work. Do you gossip? Does brimming frustration become impatience at home? Pick one sin you struggle with, then choose a virtue to strengthen that area. If you tend to speak poorly of your co-workers, resolve to stop and to say one kind thing a day instead.

Another way relates to perspective, particularly your perspective of others. Jesus' incarnation reminds us of the value of every human being. Jesus is God, and each of us is created in God's image. When you encounter another person, you have an opportunity to see God in a new place and a new way — in that person in front of you. Genuinely listen to them and be present to their concerns. Loving your neighbor is loving God! Our relationship with God and the love He inspires in our hearts shouldn't remain only at church on Sunday. We can — and should — let our faith animate our lives!

PROCESSIONAL HYMN

TABLE OF PLENTY

Come to the feast of heaven and earth!
Come to the table of plenty!
God will provide for all that we need,
here at the table of plenty.

1. O come and sit at my table
where saints and sinners are friends.
I wait to welcome the lost and lonely
to share the cup of my love.

2. O come and eat without money;
come to drink without price.
My feast of gladness will feed your spirit with faith and fullness of life.

3. My bread will ever sustain you through days of sorrow and woe.
My wine will flow like a sea of gladness to flood the depths of your soul.

GLORIA

Mass of Renewal

FIRST READING

Isaiah 25:6-10a

On this mountain the LORD of hosts will provide for all peoples a feast of rich food and choice wines, juicy, rich food and pure, choice wines. On this mountain he will destroy the veil that veils all peoples, the web that is woven over all nations; he will destroy death forever. The Lord GOD will wipe away the tears from every face; the reproach of his people he will remove from the whole earth; for the LORD has spoken. On that day it will be said:

"Behold our God, to whom we looked to save us! This is the LORD for whom we looked; let us rejoice and be glad that he has saved us!"

For the hand of the LORD will rest on this mountain.

RESPONSORIAL PSALM

Source & Summit Missal page 488

R. I shall live in the house of the Lord all the days of my life.

SECOND READING

Philippians 4:12-14, 19-20

Brothers and sisters: I know how to live in humble circumstances; I know also how to live with abundance. In every circumstance and in all things I have learned the secret of being well fed and of going hungry, of living in abundance and of being in need. I can do all things in him who strengthens me. Still, it was kind of you to share in my distress.

My God will fully supply whatever you need, in accord with his glorious riches in Christ Jesus. To our God and Father, glory forever and ever. Amen.

14 • ORDER OF WORSHIP

GOSPEL ACCLAMATION

Cf. Ephesians 1:17-18

May the Father of our Lord Jesus Christ enlighten the eyes of our hearts, so that we may know what is the hope that belongs to our call.

GOSPEL

Matthew 22:1-14

Jesus again in reply spoke to the chief priests and elders of the people in parables, saying, "The kingdom of heaven may be likened to a king who gave a wedding feast for his son. He dispatched his servants to summon the invited guests to the feast, but they refused to come. A second time he sent other servants, saying, 'Tell those invited: "Behold, I have prepared my banquet, my calves and fattened cattle are killed, and everything is ready; come to the feast."' Some ignored the invitation and went away, one to his farm, another to his business. The rest laid hold of his servants, mistreated them, and killed them. The king was enraged and sent his troops, destroyed those murderers, and burned their city. Then he said to his servants, 'The feast is ready, but those who were invited were not worthy to come. Go out, therefore, into the main roads and invite to the feast whomever you find.' The servants went out into the streets and gathered all they found, bad and good alike, and the hall was filled with guests. But when the king came in to meet the guests, he saw a man there not dressed in a wedding garment. The king said to him, 'My friend, how is it that you came in here without a wedding garment?' But he was reduced to silence. Then the king said to his attendants, 'Bind his hands and feet, and cast him into the darkness outside, where there will be wailing and grinding of teeth.' Many are invited, but few are chosen."

but by ev'ry word
That proceeds from the mouth of God.
Allelu, alleluia.

COMMUNION ANTIPHON

Mode 3 Cf. Ps 34 (33): 11 · RM

The rich suf-fer want and go hun-gry, but those who seek the Lord lack no bless-ing.

COMMUNION HYMN

You satisfy the hungry heart
With gift of finest wheat,
Come give to us, O saving Lord,
The bread of life to eat.

1. As when the shepherd calls his sheep,
They know and heed his voice;
So when you call your fam'ly, Lord,
We follow and rejoice.

GIFT OF FINEST WHEAT

2. With joyful lips we sing to you
Our praise and gratitude,
That you should count us worthy, Lord,
To share this heav'nly food.

Taste and see, taste and see
the goodness of the Lord.
O taste and see, taste and see the goodness of the Lord, of the Lord.

1. I will bless the Lord at all times.
His praise shall always be on my lips;
my soul shall glory in the Lord
for he has been so good to me.

TASTE AND SEE

2. Glorify the Lord with me.
Together let us all praise his name.
I called the Lord and he answered me;
from all my troubles he set me free.

3. Worship the Lord, all you people.
You'll want for nothing if you ask.
Taste and see that God is good;
in him we need put all our trust.

RECESSIONAL HYMN

1. Will you come and follow me
If I but call your name?
Will you go where you don't know
And never be the same?
Will you let my love be shown,
Will you let my name be known,
Will you let my life be grown
In you and you in me?

THE SUMMONS

2. Will you leave yourself behind
If I but call your name?
Will you care for cruel and kind
And never be the same?
Will you risk the hostile stare
Should your life attract or scare?
Will you let me answer pray'r
In you and you in me?
